Sony Style store adds repair, setup service at Fashion Square

The Sony Style store at Scottsdale Fashion Square has added a new feature — Backstage, a repair and set-up services department that also offers how-to help for its VAIO PCs and other products like cameras, camcorders and Walkman MP3 players.

The Fashion Square version is one of 20 Sony Style stores nationwide to add the expanded service facilities and schedule free workshops before the back-to-school rush.

SUPERMARKET COMING

Fresh & Easy has finally announced the opening plans for its second Scottsdale store.

The next Valley version of the United Kingdom-based supermarket chain is scheduled to open Aug. 27 in the shopping center on the southwest corner of Scottsdale Road and Shea Boulevard anchored by BevMo. The company plans five days of grand opening celebrations.

The store will employ 20 to 30 people, and the company intends to hire from

BRIDAL SHOP

Local designer Meghan Lawlor is moving her bridal business, Lillian Lottie Couture, from Phoenix to 7142 E. Fifth Ave. in Scottsdale. She's currently occupying space next door to her new shop, which is expected to be completed in a month or so.

A designer with training in Paris, Lawlor sells bridal gowns and accessories including custom designs of her own including, gowns, veils, headpieces, jewelry and other evening wear.

Lawlor sublet space from another bridal shop and crafted most of her designs in her own studio until landing the downtown Scottsdale shop space and a business partner — a design school friend.

Lawlor said she became interested in bridal fashions after she designed her sister's wedding gown and tackled even the veil because the couture versions were outrageously priced.

She said she works with brides to create designs that meet a budget.

"Nobody should walk out of our doors because they couldn't find something," she said.

The unusual shop name? "Lillian is my grandmother, Lottie is hers," Lawlor said of the new business partnership.

BEAUTY SHOP

Beautiful Image Arizona, which does "non-invasive facial and body sculpting," according to the company, recently opened at 7631 E. Greenway Road in the Greenway Air Center.
